Marriage and Sexuality in 19th Century English Novel

Novels written in the 19th century, particularly during the Victorian era, are regarded as some of the most famous classic literary pieces, owing mostly to the social changes in the era and the deployment of the realist mode which explored societal norms with the use of journalistic techniques in order to make the literature something closer to real life with facts and general stereotypes of human nature. The attention to detail was made to just report the facts, not commenting or judging on the scene or character. The realistic Victorian novel also emphasizes portraying the rich inner life of characters – their thoughts, feelings, motivations, anxieties, etc. Novels from this era often grappled with the themes of marriage and sexuality, offering a window into the complexities of human relationships, particularly, the works of George Eliot, Charlotte Brontë, Emily Brontë, Anne Brontë, Charles Dickens, and Jane Austen, among others. Thus, marriage is frequently presented as a central social institution, a culmination of societal expectations and personal aspirations. It was often portrayed as a woman's ultimate goal, a means to secure financial stability, and a way to ascend the social ladder. The so-called 'marriage plot' is a staple of 19th-century domestic fiction, serving as a narrative framework within which characters' fortunes and misfortunes unfold.

In George Eliot's Middlemarch, for instance, she portrays the progress of several marriages in a small provincial town. Dorothea Brooke, the heroine, is an idealist who marries an elderly scholar, Casaubon, in the hopes of helping him with his work. But she becomes disillusioned and finds herself attracted to his nephew Will Ladislaw. The realist novel, thus, also focused on themes such as marriage and sexuality as can be seen in George Eliot's Adam Bede:

"Hetty had never read a novel [...] how then could she find a shape for her expectations?"

This line from George Eliot's novel Adam Bede, reflecting on the thoughts of young, naïve country girl Hetty Sorrel as she falls in love with the older, wiser and wealthier gentleman Captain Arthur Donnithorne, provides an indicative point from which to begin a discussion of sex, courtship and marriage in Victorian literature and culture, opening up many of the ideological tensions and wider cultural resonances that these terms and their intersections produced. In the naïvety of Hetty's innocent unknowing and shapeless expectations, Eliot signals the problem of ignorance about sex prevalent among young women in the period; in the assertion that 'a novel' would provide Hetty with a guide to understanding, we are reminded of the centrality of courtship and marriage in structuring many novels of the period, as well as the cultural work that literature played in 'shaping' the ideas of its readers. Hetty's story develops not into the romantic courtship of the marriage plot novel but a narrative in which sexual ignorance leads to the tragic tale of a fallen woman who is punished, more vehemently than her male counterpart, for her sexual transgression. The exploration of such theme serves as a microcosm of the period's societal dynamics. It offers insights into the expectations placed upon individuals, particularly women, and the complex nature of human sexuality.

Marriage and Sexuality in 19th Century English Novel – Seminar Report

The seminar titled "Marriage and Sexuality in 19th Century English Novel" organized by the Department of English under the supervision of Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri was held on 12/12/2018, at 12:00 onwards in the seminar hall of our college. The IQAC chairman, Sandip Kumar Rajak, inaugurated the seminar. The seminar provided an analysis of 19th century realist novels that explored the themes of marriage and sexuality, among other social issues, offering a window into the complexities of human relationships and societal dynamics. Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik, the keynote speaker, delighted the audience with an insightful analysis of gender roles and societal expectations, particularly in the case of women, as explored in 19th century novels. The themes of marriage as a social transaction, romantic courtship, and subversive sexuality were also explored. The students engaged actively, posing questions and participating in discussions that enriched the seminar experience. The event concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks from Masadul Islam, summarizing the discourse generated.

Respected Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik,

On behalf of the Department of English, Dumkal College I am glad to invite you to serve as a resource person for the seminar on "Marriage and Sexuality in 19th Century English Novels", scheduled to be held on 12/12/2018 in the Seminar Hall of our college.

We are organizing this seminar to gain knowledge about the common characteristics found in 19th-century literature including the topics of realism, politics and class, anthropology, gender, and feminism. People read many forms of writing due to the increase in publication. The nineteenth century is sometimes perceived as an era in which there was a reduction in the expression and exploration of gender and sexuality, as this clashed with prevailing religious and social views, ideology, and notions of morality.

We are excited about the possibility of your participation and look forward to your positive response.

Report	Plagiarism, a severe ethical violation, has become increasingly prominent in academic writings. Defined as the act of using someone else's work, ideas, or expressions without proper acknowledgment, plagiarism undermines the integrity of academic research and scholarship. This seminar report aims to explore the various dimensions of plagiarism in academic writings, its causes, consequences, and potential strategies to prevent it. Plagiarism in academic writings is a significant issue that can have far-reaching consequences for individuals and institutions. By understanding its causes, recognizing its consequences, and implementing effective prevention strategies, the academic community can work towards upholding the integrity of research and scholarship. Education, awareness, and the use of plagiarism detection tools are essential in combating this pervasive problem.

Departmental Seminar Report

Title of the Seminar	'Inequality and Indian Political System: Caste, Class and Religion'.
Date and Venue	11 th June, 2019 at Seminar Hall.
Invited Speaker	Dr. Mintu Mondal, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Pachthupi Haripada Gouribala College, Murshidabad, West Bengal.
No. of Students/ Participants Present	53
Report of the Seminar	The hon'ble Teacher-in-Charge of our College Dr. Debashis Bandopadhyay inaugurated the seminar with his valuable speech on the relevance of such regular activities like departmental seminars in order to enhance the academic environment as a whole. This topic was related to the syllabus of 'Political Sociology' (Core Course 13, Semester V of University of Kalyani) and therefore the speaker tried to explore it from the very beginning – from the perspective of the 'social stratification in Indian society'. He decrypted the notions of 'caste', 'class' and 'religion' that had been at work in our great Indian nation one by one and then discussed their interconnectedness and functions in details. This seminar, as we the teachers observe pleased the students most. The seminar was the longest one for it took almost three hours to be completed including a generous question-answer session. Packets of tiffin were given to the audience who made the event wonderful.

Subject: Request for Permission to Organize a Departmental Seminar

Respected sir,

I am writing to ask for your permission to organize a departmental seminar on “Failed Protection: Literature’s Criticism of the Partition of India”, scheduled to be held on 22/11/2019 in our college's Seminar Hall.

We believe that this seminar will extract history and give us facts about the partition, it cannot provide us with any details about the suffering of people but a book of literature is lively and will provide you with the real-life situation, violation, and disturbance that occurred at the time of the partition. The proposed schedule is as follows:

Opening Introduction: 12.00 pm

Keynote Address: 12.05 am

Speech by Resource Person: 12.10 am

Q&A Session: 12.50 am

Closing Remarks: 1.00 pm

We are committed to ensuring all required arrangements, including logistical support, technical equipment, and snacks for the participants. Furthermore, we shall follow any standards and protocols established by the college to ensure the seminar runs smoothly and efficiently.

We respectfully request permission to proceed with the preparation and execution of this event. Your participation and approval are critical to the success of this seminar

Thank you for reviewing our request. We are looking forward to your favorable reaction and hope for your approval.

Failed Protection: Literature's Criticism of the Partition of India

The long fight for India's independence from the British Raj gained momentum after World War II. However, India's desire for self-governance was coupled with severe inter-communal disharmony. The Indian National Congress and the Muslim League could not reconcile their views, which further added to the chaos ensuing escalation of sectarian violence. So in the year 1947, when the British finally left India, the country was divided into two independent nation-states — India and Pakistan. Following this decision, millions of people were forced to leave their homes and move to the other state, laboring through corpse-littered landscapes and not knowing what their future would be like. This traumatic historical incident created a huge response from writers of various Indian languages. In fiction- short stories, novels, dramas, poetry, and nonfiction- life writings, autobiographies, etc., writers have been trying to understand the making of the traumatic events of India's partition and the range of possible human emotions or the extreme hatred or doomed love towards the other.

There are many writers who brought to the fore different aspects of the tragic event. In Urdu literature it was Saadat Hasan Manto (1912-1955) who is known for writing extensively on the issues of partition. His unforgettable short stories on partition are Toba Tek Singh, Khol Do, Thanda Gosht, Siya Hasiye and so on. Urdu poets, as well, expressed their disenchantment, grief, and helplessness- Faiz Ahmed Faiz, Gulzar, Makhdoom Ahmad Riyaz, Ahmad Faraz, and Majaz Lakhnavi to name a few. Faiz Ahmad Faiz, in one of his remarkable poems Subh-e Azadi (Dawn of Independence), expresses his disenchantment at the creation of a new country, Pakistan:

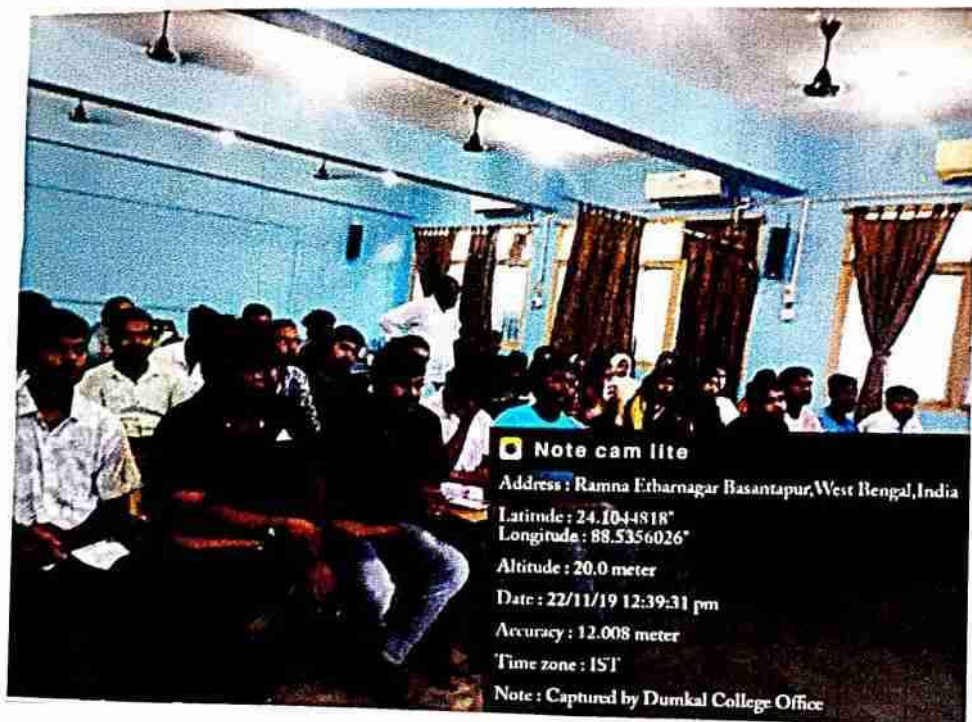

“Ye daagh ujala, ye shab gazeeda seher
Wo intezaar tha jiska ye wo seher tau nahi
Ye wo seher tau nahin, jis ki arzu le kar
Chaley thay yaar ke mil jaye gi kahin na kahin”
This stained light, this night-bitten dawn;
This is not that long-awaited day break;
This is not the dawn in whose longing,
We set out believing we would find, somewhere

Later on, in English, too, the Indian writers began to portray the issues and themes of partition of India. Among short stories, Dibyendu Palit's Alam's Own House, Manik Bandyopadhyay's The Final Solution, and Lalithambika Antharajanam's A Leaf in the Storm (in translation) are some of the more famous works. The theme of homelessness, exile and the search for identity also form the theme of novels such as Intizar Husain's Basti (in translation), Amitav Ghosh's The Shadow Lines, Khushwan Singh's Train to Pakistan, Attia Hosain's Sunlight on a Broken Column, Anita Kumar's The Night of the Seven Dawns, and Anita Desai's Clear Light of Day, to name only a few.

Failed Protection: Literature's Criticism on the Partition of India – Seminar Report

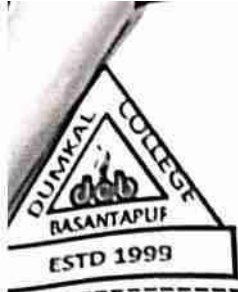

The seminar titled "Failed Protection: Literature's Criticism on the Partition of India" organized by the Department of English under the supervision of Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri was held on 22/11/2019, at 12:30 onwards in the seminar hall of our college. The honourable Principal of our college, Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik inaugurated the seminar. The seminar explored the socio-cultural effects of the partition of India and how literature written in English and various Indian languages explored the new issues and experiences. Prof. Jayanta Kar, the keynote speaker, captivated the audience with an insightful analysis of the history of the partition of India and literary responses to the partition. It also explored the themes of loss and displacement, and identity crisis. Students engaged actively, posing questions and participating in discussions that enriched the seminar experience. The event concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks from Farha Khatun, acknowledging the significance of partition literature in foregrounding the range of possible human emotions and experiences.

Subject: Request for Permission to Organize a Departmental Seminar

Respected sir,

I am writing to ask for your permission to organize a departmental seminar on The Indian Epic Tradition, scheduled to be held on 20/12/2019 in the Seminar Hall of the college.

We believe that this seminar will extract history and give us facts about the partition, it cannot provide us with any details about the suffering of people but a book of literature is lively and will provide you with the real-life situation, violation, and disturbance that occurred in India. The epics of Ramayana and Mahabharata were instrumental in the transition from the Vedic era to the Puranic era. These epics established Rama and Krishna as more popular heroes of the masses. In these stories, God himself descends to the mortal world, to live with people and demonstrate what an ideal life is like. The proposed schedule is as follows:

Date Of Commencement: 20/12/2019

Inauguration: 12.00 noon

Keynote Address: 12.05 am

Speech by Resource Person: 12.10 am

Q&A Session: 12.50 am

The Indian Epic Tradition

Indian epics are ancient literary works that have played a significant role in shaping Indian culture and spirituality. An epic refers to a long narrative poem derived from ancient oral tradition, narrating the great deeds of legendary heroes who embody the values of a particular society, whereas myth is an ancient story, especially concerning and explaining the early history of a group of people or about natural events and facts typically involving supernatural beings. However, the stories of epic and myth are told again and again serving to explain why something is the way it is. Epics are complex and expansive narratives that are often used to teach moral and ethical lessons.

Most of the Indian epics have inspired a vast body of literature and art, from classical Sanskrit plays and poetry to modern novels and films. They have influenced the way that people think about storytelling and imagination, and have helped to shape the aesthetic sensibilities of Indian culture. They have also played a significant role in shaping political and historical consciousness. At the same time, they have been used as symbols of national identity and unity, and have helped to forge a sense of shared history and destiny among the people of India. Some of the most well-known Indian epics are 'The Ramayana', 'The Mahabharata', 'Raghuvamsa', 'Shishupala Vadha', 'Kiratarjuniya', 'Silappadikaram', 'Kumarasambava', and 'Ramcharitmanas.'

The two great epics of ancient India — the Ramayana and the Mahabharata—probably took shape in the course of several hundred years, and subsequent additions were made to them. They deal with the early days of the Indo-Aryans, their conquests and civil wars, when they were expanding and consolidating themselves, but they were composed and compiled later. Dating back to a remote antiquity, they are still a living force in the life of the Indian people. Not in the original Sanskrit, except for a few intellectuals, but in translations and adaptations, and in those innumerable ways in which tradition and legend spread and become a part of the texture of a people's life.

The Mahabharata is said to have been authored by Sage Ved Vyasa. The epic chronicles the fight for supremacy in Greater India between two groups of cousins, the Kauravas, and the Pandavas. No wonder the Mahabharata is the longest-known epic poem and has been regarded as the longest poem ever written, with a length almost seven times that of Homer's Iliad and Odyssey combined. The epic is divided into eighteen sections and contains over 110,000 couplets. Harivamsha is the name of the 19th segment. The Ramayana is the other epic poem of India, forming, along with the Mahabharata, the Hindu Itihasa (meaning "history" in Hindi). The epic narrates the life of Rama, the prince of the Kosala Kingdom, and the author is believed to be Valmiki. Various scholars estimate that the earliest parts of the text were written from the 7th to the 4th century BCE and that the text grew with later additions around the 3rd century CE. It is easy to see that the Ramayana is one of the oldest epics in the world, and also one of the longest ones: it consists of 24,000 verses. Hindus consider it to be the "first poem", and the main theme is the depiction of the duties of relationships, with characters representing the ideal father, the ideal servant, the ideal king, etc. Like the Mahabharata, the Ramayana doesn't simply tell a story: it presents the teaching of the Hindu stages, with plenty of allegorical elements.

The Indian Epic Tradition – Seminar Report

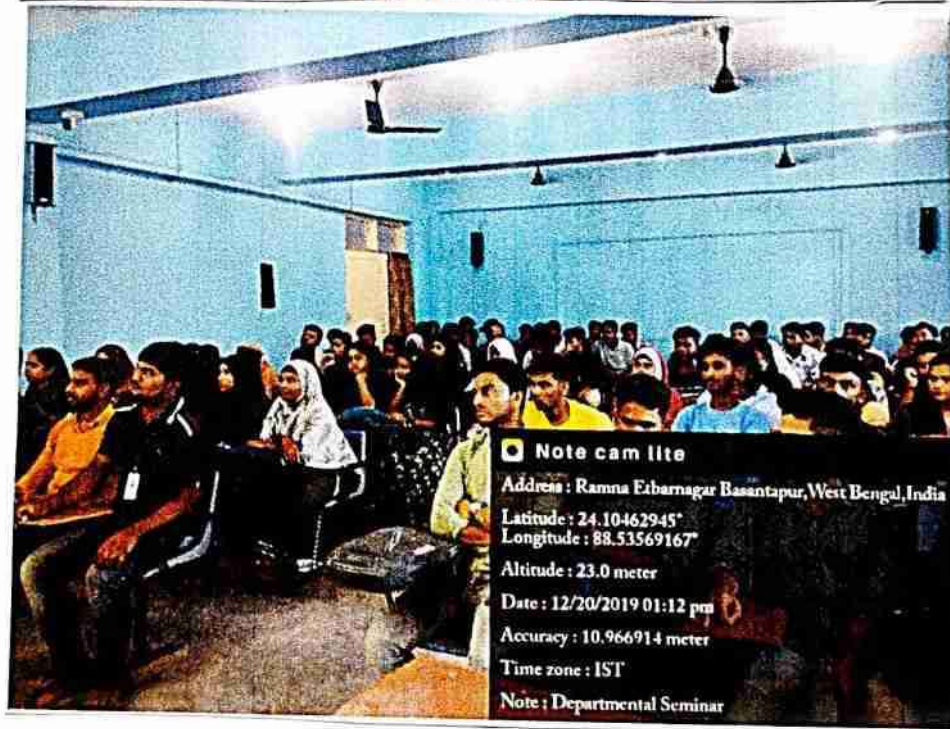

The seminar titled "The Indian Epic Tradition" organized by the Department of English under the supervision of Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri was held on 20/12/2019, at 1:30 onwards in the seminar hall of our college. The IQAC chairman, Sandip Kumar Rajak, inaugurated the seminar. The seminar explored the origins of the Indian Epic Tradition and how it became a part of Indian tradition and culture. Prof. Parantap Chakraborty, the keynote speaker, delighted the audience with his erudite exposition on Sanskrit and Tamil Epics, his exploration of dharma, devotion, and righteousness, and his observation of the influence of traditional epics on art and literature. Attendees engaged actively, posing questions and participating in discussions that enriched the seminar experience. The event concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks from Masadul Islam, acknowledging the significance of traditional Indian epics and summarized the meaningful discourse generated during the seminar.

African American Literature

African American literature is the body of literature produced in the United States by writers of African descent. It began with the works of such late 18th-century writers as Phillis Wheatley. Before the high point of enslaved people narratives, African American literature was dominated by autobiographical spiritual narratives. The genre known as slave narratives in the 19th century were accounts by people who had generally escaped from slavery, about their journeys to freedom and ways they claimed their lives. Among the themes and issues explored in this literature are the role of African Americans within the larger American society, African American culture, racism, slavery, and social equality.

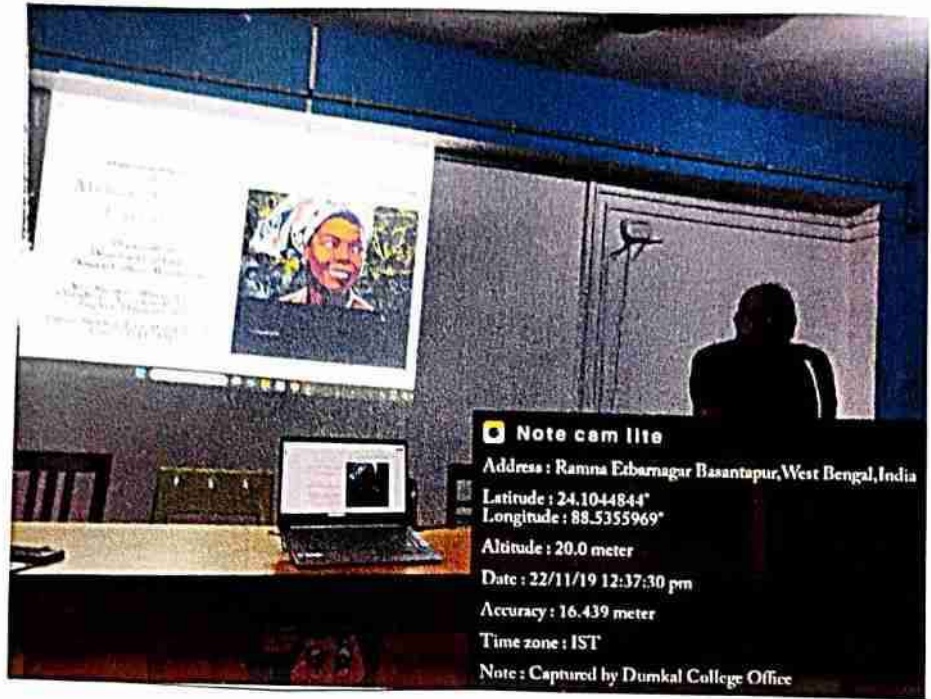

At the turn of the 20th century, non-fiction works by authors such as W. E. B. Du Bois and Booker T. Washington debated how to confront racism in the United States. During the Civil Rights Movement, authors such as Richard Wright and Gwendolyn Brooks wrote about issues of racial segregation and black nationalism. Today, African American literature has become accepted as an integral part of American literature, with books such as “Roots: The Saga of an American Family” by Alex Haley, “The Color Purple” (1982) by Alice Walker, which won the Pulitzer Prize; and “Beloved” by Toni Morrison achieving both best-selling and award-winning status. These works explore the themes integral to the African American experience: The Legacy of Slavery, The Search for Identity, Oppression and Resilience, Female Solidarity, and Self-Discovery and Voice.

Rationale behind the seminar:

Philosophy arose in India as an enquiry into the mystery of life and existence. Indian philosophy is rich in several traditions of philosophical thought that affected the socio-cultural and religious life of the people of India. Over centuries philosophy became a vehicle for the exploration of truth and today Indian philosophy with all nuances and traditions are integral part of academic syllabus in school, colleges and universities across India. Naturally, it is an integral part of the U.G syllabus of philosophy in University of Kalyani. In order to give the students an overall view of the different branches of Indian philosophy, the department of philosophy of our college decided to organise a departmental seminar titled: 'Various branches of Indian Philosophy and their inter-dependence'.

Topic: 'Various branches of Indian Philosophy and their inter-dependence'

Date: 14-11-2019 (Thursday). Time: 11 am onwards.

Venue: Room no. 303

Organised by: Department of Philosophy, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 39

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Dr. Payel Chattopadhyay, Assistant Professor in Philosophy, Krishnath College, Berhampore, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Report/ Outcomes of the Seminar: Indian philosophy refers to several traditions of philosophical thought which originated in the Indian sub-continent. Over centuries, India's intellectual exploration of truth has come to be represented by six systems of philosophy- Vaisesika, Nyaya, Samkhya, Yoga, Purva Mimamsa and Uttara Mimamsa or Vedanta. These six systems of traditional philosophical thought are believed to be founded by sages like Konada, Gotama, Kapila, Jaimini and Vyasa respectively. This is the core of Indian philosophical thought. But these six systems of philosophy were further developed by many individual thinkers. Today Indian philosophical thought is normally divided into two parts- Orthodox school of Indian philosophy and unorthodox school of Indian philosophy. Among the orthodox school fall all the above mentioned six schools of philosophy and among the unorthodox schools or heterodox schools fall the Charvaka, Buddhist and Jain philosophy. This is the main topic of discussion in the seminar, wonderfully explain by the key-speaker Dr. Payel Chattopadhyay, Assistant Professor in Philosophy, Krishnath College. She gave a brief preview of the Indian philosophy in such a way that students present in the seminar were enlightened not only about the topic itself but also about the academic syllabus they are to follow during their course of study. Dr. Chattopadhyay really provided a crisp and clear information about the topic in discussion.

In conclusion, the various branches of Indian philosophy form a complex tapestry of ideas and insights that are interconnected through their shared exploration of the nature of reality, the self, and consciousness. The inter-dependence between these branches underscores the dynamic and evolving nature of Indian philosophical thought, inviting continual dialogue and reflection on the fundamental questions of existence and knowledge.

Answering questions from the audience, Dr. Chattopadhyay elaborated on the need and importance to study different branches of Indian Philosophy for the students of philosophy to gain detailed knowledge on the subject.

The seminar ended with note of thanks to the key speaker by the HoD of the department of Philosophy. Overall, the seminar was considered a great success.

Departmental Seminar Report

Title of the Seminar	'Framing International Relations: A Brief Outline'
Date and Venue	14 th November, 2019 at Smart Class Room (2 nd Floor)
Speaker	Dr. Subhajit Ghosh, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, K.N. College, Berhampore, West Bengal.
No. of Students/ Participants Present	62
Report of the Seminar	Hon'ble Theacher-in-Charge Dr. Debashis Bandopadhyay took the chair of the President and was felicitated along with our Invited Speaker Dr. Debashis Bandopadhyay by the students of our Department. Dr. Bandopadhyay praised the department's efforts to organize such seminars in row, encouraged all to be part of the same whenever could be possible. Dr. Subhajit Ghosh's discussion mixed theory of International Relations with world politics which made it understandable to the students as majority of them were new to it. Starting from the coming of the modern age to the Post-Soviet world, he pointed out all major turns of the International order in its history and had analyzed its theoretical perspectives at the same time. For example, how the Idealist and Realist theories and debates that had originated and shaped in between the two World Wars and what were their outcomes that kept influencing the International order in the coming years? The Seminar was enjoyed both by the students and the other interested audience thoroughly. The question-answer session was equally delightful for students were curiously keen in getting their answers from the Hon'ble speaker. Lunch packets were there for all participants.

Topic: 'Historiography'

Date: 26.11.2019 (Tuesday). Time: 11.30 A.M. onwards.

Venue: Seminar Hall

Organised by: Department of History, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 48

No. of the teachers present: 5

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Shri Biswajit Halder, Assistant Professor of History, Krishnath College, Berhampore, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Rationale behind the seminar titled: 'Historiography'

Historiography is defined as the writing of history, especially the writing of history based on the critical examination of sources, the selection of particular details from the authentic materials in those sources, and the synthesis of those details into a narrative that stands the test of critical examination. The term historiography also refers to the theory and history of historical writing.

In short, Historiography is the study of the history and methodology of history as a discipline. Briefly, it is the history of history. When you study historiography, you are not studying the past directly. Instead, you are studying the changing interpretations of past events through historians' eyes. Before the late 18th century, historiography did not stand at the centre of any civilization. History was almost never an important part of regular education and it never claimed to provide an interpretation of human life as a whole.

Historiography is important for a wide range of reasons. First, it helps us understand why historical events have been interpreted so differently over time. In other words, historiography helps us examine not only history itself, but also the broader overlying characteristics that shape the recording of history itself.

For any serious student of History, the study of Historiography is immensely important to meticulously understand the subject. Historiography is also an integral part of History syllabus of both Under Graduate and Post Graduate studies.

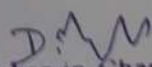

Keeping in mind the importance of Historiography as a beacon for studying the subject of history for our students, the Department of History of Dumkal College decided to organize a one-day seminar on the topic – Historiography.

Report / Outcome of the Seminar

Historiography is the study of the history and methodology of history as a discipline. Briefly, it is the history of history. There are many different schools that all focus on different elements of history, such as politics, economics, and world cultures.

Historiography can essentially be understood in two ways. In the most common way today, historiography (the writing of history) is equivalent to a set of works of history, meaning texts about the human past that were written at a specific time and place using a roughly consistent methodological and/or ethical-political approach. Thus, for example, we can speak of medieval, Renaissance or early 20th-century historiography; of French or Russian historiography; of the historiography on states or urban historiography; of Marxist, subaltern, liberal or positivist historiography; of internationalist or nationalist historiography, etc.

Shri Biswajit Halder, Assistant Professor of History, Krishnath College, delivered a well-structured lecture on the topic in the seminar which drew great attention from the audience. He dealt mainly with the different schools of thought in historiography about ancient Indian History. Being part of their present syllabus, students showed great interest about the topic. At the fag end of the seminar students asked several questions related to the topic. Shri Halder answered their curiosity and expressed satisfaction about the quality of the questions raised from the audience. The seminar ended with vote of thanks to the key speaker from the HoD of the Department of History.

Dear Sri Debasis Bandyopadhyay,

I hope this finds you and everyone around well and safe.

It's a pleasure to make introductions and warm greetings on behalf of Team CDEW. CDEW is a non for profit global initiative started by leading industry professionals and academicians. Our founding team comprises alumni from JNU, IIT, Harvard, ETH Switzerland with several decades of global experience with leading organizations like IBM, Accenture, Ernst and Young, Citibank, Presidency College, Geospatial Media etc. We firmly believe that translating education into meaningful employment outcomes can be significantly enhanced by practical work related knowledge/experience sharing and coaching. Our vision is to provide meaningful mentoring sessions and career enhancement related programs to motivated and high potential college students free of cost, as a small way of contributing back to our country and community.

Kindly feel free to visit our website www.cdew.org to know more about our initiatives.

We are looking forward to inviting your students for one of our relevant community outreach activity - an online workshop through which we hope to create meaningful interactions and valuable learning for them. Please find below an outline of our programme detail.

CDEW's 'DRISHTI WORKSHOP'

- Platform: Online through 'Google Meets'
- Duration : 60 to 90 minutes (each session)
- Number of sessions: 3

Exact dates and timings to be mutually coordinated with the nominated college faculty in charge

The workshop is a community outreach activity for CDEW and is complimentary for the students and so there is NO FEE charged.

Workshop completion certificates and individual feedback will be sent to all successfully participating students at the end of the workshop.

In order for us to commence with the workshops, we would need a Student Nomination Form duly signed by the college. Kindly find the same attached, we would appreciate if you can kindly sign and send back to us via email, and we will start the workshop activities.

We are looking forward to providing a valuable learning experience for the students of Dumkal College.

Best Wishes

Dr Rituparna Sengupta

Subject: Request for Permission to Organize a Departmental Seminar

Respected sir,

I am writing to ask for your permission to organize a departmental seminar “Pantheism in English Romantic Poetry: An Ecocritical Study”, scheduled to be held on 22/12/2022 in our college's Seminar Hall. We believe that this seminar will give us an idea about the doctrine that the universe conceived of as a whole is God and, conversely, that there is no God but the combined substance, forces, and laws that are manifested in the existing universe. To Spinoza, there is no separation between God and the sensitive world. The proposed schedule is as follows:

Date of Commencement: 22/12/2022
Inauguration: 12.00 noon
Keynote Address: 12.05 am
Speech by Resource Person: 12.10 am
Q&A Session: 12.50 am
Closing Remarks: 1.00 pm

We are committed to ensuring all required arrangements, including logistical support, technical equipment, and snacks for the participants. Furthermore, we shall follow any standards and protocols established by the college to ensure the seminar runs smoothly and efficiently.

We respectfully request permission to proceed with the preparation and execution of this event. Your participation and approval are critical to the success of this seminar

Thank you for reviewing our request. We are looking forward to your favorable reaction and hope for your approval.

Pantheism in English Romantic Poetry: An Ecocritical Study – Seminar Report

The seminar titled "Pantheism in English Romantic Poetry: An Ecocritical Study", organized by the Department of English under the supervision of Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri was held on 22/12/2022, at 2:00 onwards in the seminar hall of our college. The IQAC chairman Sandip Kumar Rajak inaugurated the seminar. The seminar explored pantheism in British romanticism. Prof. Parantap Chakraborty, the keynote speaker, explored the Pantheistic elements in English Romantic poetry, examined through an Eco-critical perspective. The speaker also explored the Romantic poet's recognition of the divine in nature and the anticipation of modern environmental thought. Students engaged actively, posing questions and participating in discussions that enriched the seminar experience. The event concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks from Abida Sultana, acknowledging the significance British canonical Romantic thought and its connection to modern ecological concerns.

Pantheism in English Romantic Poetry: An Ecocritical Study

Pantheism is a philosophical and spiritual perspective that reveres the divine presence within all aspects of the natural world. It celebrates the interconnectedness of existence, blurring the boundaries between the material and the spiritual. In the context of Romantic poetry, pantheism found fertile ground, inspiring poets to weave their verses with the threads of cosmic unity and reverence for nature. Ecocriticism seeks to explore the relationship between literature and the physical environment. It claims that literary works must not merely use nature as a backdrop; they should make nature a firm presence and urges us to recognize literature's role in shaping our ecological consciousness. Wordsworth, often regarded as the quintessential Romantic poet, was deeply attuned to the natural world. His famous lines from Lines Composed a Few Miles Above Tintern Abbey epitomize pantheistic sentiments:

*"A sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man."*

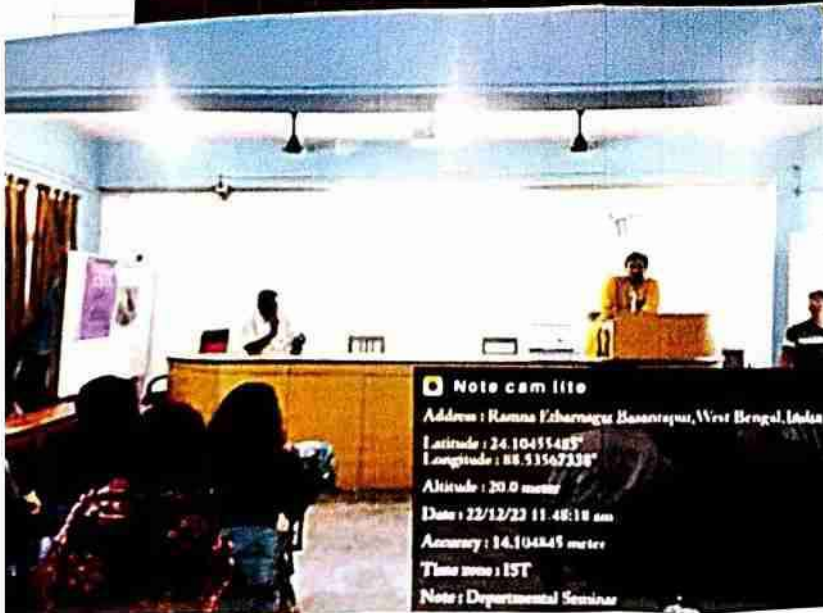

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, influenced by German culture, played a pivotal role in introducing pantheism to Britain. Although he later returned to trinitarian Christianity, his early works resonate with pantheistic themes. His poem "Frost at Midnight" reflects this connection:

*"And I behold the silent trees,
And the intruding sky.
And I think of thee, my love!"*

Second-Generation Romantics explore pantheistic themes in their poems as well. In Shelley's Ode to the West Wind and Mont Blanc he uses the wind and the mountain to explore pantheistic ideas. Shelley describes "the everlasting universe of things" in the first line of Mont Blanc. This phrase sums up Nature, God, and man's thoughts into one "everlasting universe." Shelley uses the river to represent the "flowing" nature of divinity in this poem, and uses the wind for the same purpose in Ode to the West Wind. The wind, a manifestation of the divine, affects all things from the leaves to the sea, also affects Shelley. In the poem, Shelley actually refers to praying to the wind, which again reaffirms the pantheistic idea that God is everywhere, and everything deserves, in essence, a "prayer."

Renaissance Humanism in Elizabethan Drama

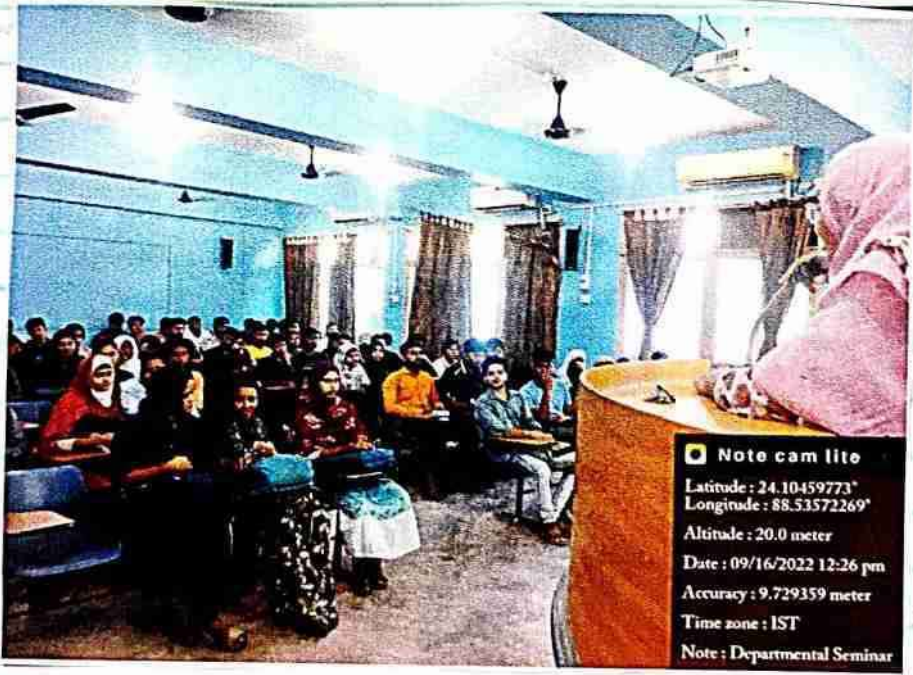

Broadly speaking, the Renaissance period is used to describe the era when Europeans moved away from the restrictive ideas of the Middle Ages. The ideology that dominated the Middle Ages was heavily focused on the absolute power of God and was enforced by the formidable Roman Catholic Church. From the 14th century onward, people started to break away from this idea. The artists and thinkers of the Renaissance did not necessarily reject the idea of God. The Renaissance cultural creators did, however, question humankind's relationship to God. And the new focus on humanity created new-found freedom for artists, writers, and philosophers to be inquisitive about the world around them. They often drew on the more human-centered classical writing and art of ancient Greece and Rome for inspiration. English Renaissance developed later than in the other European countries- at the end of the 15th century. It flourished in the second half of the 16th century and its effect can be felt strongly in English poetry and drama. It is also called the Golden Age of English literature, the Elizabethan Age or the Age of Shakespeare.

Drama was the greatest achievement of the Elizabethan Age. It reached the vast popular audience at all levels of society. All the writers of the time, except Sidney and Spenser, wrote a lot of plays. Among them, the most famous were William Shakespeare, Christopher Marlowe, and Ben Jonson. Ben Jonson created a lot of masques. A masque was a form of courtly entertainment that combined poetic drama, song, dance and music. Gorboduc or The Tragedy of Ferrex and Porrex by Sackville and Norton, may be considered the first regular tragedy. Written in blank verse and modeled on Seneca, it anticipated the great blood tragedies of Elizabethan drama. Terence and Plautus were the models for comedy and Seneca for tragedy. Their influence can be seen in some important traits of the Elizabethan plays: the theme of vengeance, the omnipotence of destiny, the supernatural (ghosts and premonitory dreams), the cruel tyrant, and the presence of monologues or soliloquies. The first great English dramatist before Shakespeare to turn away from religious themes and to focus on the individual was Christopher Marlowe. His tragedies, Tamburlaine the Great and The Jew of Malta, are full of violence; they deal with ambition and the struggle for power. So does The Tragical History of the Life and Death of Doctor Faustus. It is based on the well-known story of a man who sold his soul to the devil in order to gain power and wealth in this life. The Elizabethan dramatist who added psychological insight and mastery of the plot to Marlowe's accomplishments was William Shakespeare, who wrote more than 30 plays. Most famous of his plays are his tragedies Romeo and Juliet, Julius Caesar, Hamlet, Othello, King Lear, and Macbeth; and his comedies A Midsummer's Night's Dream, Measure for Measure, The Merchant of Venice, Much Ado about Nothing, and Love's Labour's Lost.

Subject: Request for Permission to Organize a Departmental Seminar

Respected sir,

I am writing to ask for your permission to organize a departmental seminar on “Experience, Trauma, and the Identity Crisis: The Poetry of Kamala Das”, scheduled to be held on 11/02/2023 in our college's Seminar Hall.

We believe that this seminar will give us an idea about the patriarchal society where a woman suffers every time. Married at the early age of sixteen, her husband confined her to a single room. She was ashamed of her femininity that came before time and brought her to this predicament. This explains her claim that she was crushed by the weight of her breast and womb. She tries to overcome it by seeming tomboyish. In "An Introduction," Das delves deeply into the important issues of feminism/equal liberties, freedom, and marriage. This poem strongly supports women's right to free choice and makes a very obvious feminist argument. This applies to all facets of life, although the poet emphasizes marriage in particular. The proposed schedule is as follows:

Opening Introduction: 12.00 pm
Keynote Address: 12.05 am
Speech by Resource Person: 12.10 am
Q&A Session: 12.50 am
Closing Remarks: 1.00 pm

Experience, Trauma, and the Identity Crisis: The Poetry of Kamala Das

Kamala Das was part of a generation of Indian writers whose work centred on personal as well as colonial experiences that the earlier generation of Indian writers in English explored in a great variety of forms. She wrote openly and frankly about female sexual desire and the experience of being an Indian woman. Critics Ramesh Kumar Gupta, C. Santhosh Kumar, A. Selvalakshmi, Z. F. Molvi, describe the poetry of Kamala Das as being unusual, while the poet believes that she writes with 'candour' about her experiences of womanhood. Speaking of her poetry as 'unusual' is an expected reader's response to poems written in the confessional mode- not a common style for Indian poets- with its focus on extreme moments of individual experience, the psyche, and personal trauma. Likewise, her short stories, memoirs, and essays brought her respect and notoriety in equal measures. Das wrote both in English (mostly poetry) and, under the pen name Madhavikutty, in Malayalam. Her poetry collections include 'Summer in Calcutta' (1965), 'The Descendants' (1967), and 'The Old Playhouse, and Other Poems' (1992).

Das's poems cast a critical eye on Indian society, with its strong patriarchy and notions about how a woman should conduct herself. Interestingly, while her poetry is replete with feminist yearnings, there is a strong sense of spirituality running through them. "An Introduction" is Kamala's autobiographical poem in which she says she can recall the names of the men who dominate the politics of India and follows this up with a plea for her place in the sun, while likely stressing that her knowledge of languages indicates that she is as educated as a man.

*"I am Indian, born in Malabar,
I speak three languages, write in
Two, dream in one."*

Her poems also critically explore her frustration in love and sexual relationship in the patriarchal society of India. Love and sex form the main theme in her poetry. She always speaks of her unfulfilled love and expresses her need for love. In 'The Sunshine Cat' the poet abuses her husband because he never loved her and never used her properly. She calls him a selfish and cowardly man who was a ruthless watcher of her sexual act with other men. This frustration of her love boils over in poems like 'The Invitation' and 'The Looking Glass'. Sexual humiliation becomes a central theme in her poetry. She goes to the extreme in her frank treatment of sex. In 'The Looking Glass' she says:

*"Gift him all,
Gift him what makes you woman, the scent of Long hair"*

- The Looking Glass.

Experience, Trauma, and Identity Crisis: The Poetry of Kamala Das – Seminar Report

The seminar titled "Experience, Trauma, and the Psyche: The Poetry of Kamala Das," organized by the Department of English under the supervision of Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri was held on 16/09/2022, at 1:30 onwards in the seminar hall of our college. The honourable Principal of our college, Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik inaugurated the seminar. The seminar provided a profound exploration of Kamala Das's literary legacy. Prof. Sahina Akhtar, the keynote speaker, captivated the audience with an insightful analysis of Das's confessional poetry, delving into her personal experiences, her notion of sexuality, and other related feminist themes. Attendees, primarily students, engaged actively, posing questions and participating in discussions that enriched the seminar experience. The event concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks from Abida Sultana, acknowledging the significance of Das's work and summarized the meaningful discourse generated during the seminar.

Dear Sahina Akhter,

I hope this letter finds you well. On behalf of the Department of English, Dumkal College I am glad to invite you to serve as a resource person for our next seminar on Experience, Trauma, and the Identity Crisis: The Poetry of Kamala Das, scheduled to be held on 11/02/2023 in the Seminar Hall of our college.

We believe that this seminar will give us an idea about the patriarchal society where a woman suffers every time. Married at the early age of sixteen, her husband confined her to a single room. She was ashamed of her femininity that came before time and brought her to this predicament. This explains her claim that she was crushed by the weight of her breast and womb. She tries to overcome it by seeming tomboyish. In "An Introduction," Das delves deeply into the important issues of feminism/equal liberties, freedom, and marriage. This poem strongly supports women's right to free choice and makes a very obvious feminist argument. This applies to all facets of life, although the poet emphasizes marriage in particular.

Please find the tentative schedule and further information about the event contained in this letter. We are happy to accommodate any special needs you may have and look forward to considering any suggestions you may have to improve the seminar experience.

Thank you for considering our invitation. We are excited about the possibility of your participation and look forward to your positive response.

Warm regards,
Manas Ranjan Chaudhuri

Rationale behind the seminar titled: 'Vidyasagar's Philosophy of life in the context of Feminism'

Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar, a pioneering figure in 19th-century Bengal, advocated fiercely for women's rights and education, challenging prevailing social norms. By examining his life, we gain historical insights into early feminist movements in India. Vidyasagar's relentless efforts led to significant legal reforms, including the Hindu Widows' Remarriage Act of 1856, advancing gender equality and social justice. Exploring his advocacy for women's education underscores the pivotal role education plays in feminist endeavours. Moreover, Vidyasagar's influence on Indian culture and societal attitudes towards gender roles remains profound, making his life a compelling lens through which to analyse the evolution of feminism in India. In this context the department of philosophy felt it necessary to Conducting a seminar on Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar's life within the framework of feminism.

Report / Outcome of the Seminar

Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar – born as Ishwar Chandra Bandyopadhyay (1820-1891) was one of the key figures of India's renaissance in the nineteenth century. He worked wholeheartedly for women's empowerment and prosperity. He was an academician, a thinker and a scholar par excellence. It was due to his vast erudition that the title of 'Vidyasagar' – the sea of knowledge was conferred on him. Besides being a great scholar, Vidyasagar was also a leading social reformer. Particularly, women's regeneration formed the nucleus of his ideas and works related to his social reform programmes.

He laid emphasis on education among women. Vidyasagar started his social movement from Bengal in both the fields – women's education and getting them out of the grip of social evils, and thus, became a champion of social reform. His endeavours for women's upliftment, welfare, empowerment and elevation proved to be a milestone, and he became a great source of inspiration for people. He avowed to uplift the status of women and prepared the ground for remarriage. It was not an easy task. But, Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar who was committed to the noble human cause, succeeded. It was the result of his untiring struggle that the Government of India of the day passed the Widow Remarriage Act in 1856. It was indeed another revolutionary social step taken after the Sati Regulation Act. With the purpose of gathering people's support for the implementation of the provision of remarriage of widows, he encouraged his only son Narayan Chandra Bandyopadhyaya to marry a widow. Vidyasagar also fought against the evil of child marriage and strongly protested against polygamy. Both of these social evils had detrimental effect on women's dignity and self-respect.

Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar's work in the field of women's education was indeed a landmark. He established many educational institutions throughout Bengal. The Metropolitan School of Calcutta was one of the institutions founded by him. All girls could study in institutions established by him without any kind of discrimination. Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar went door to door, requesting heads of families to allow their daughters to be enrolled in schools. He opened 35 schools for women throughout Bengal and was successful in enrolling 1300 students. He even initiated 'Nari Siksha Bhandar', a fund to lend support for the cause.

Dr. Munmun Dutta, Assistant Professor, Hazi A.K Khan College, Hariharpara, Murshidabad, delivered a well-structured lecture on the topic- 'Vidyasagar's Philosophy of life in the context of Feminism' to highlight Vidyasagar's opinion and work about enhancing and changing the education and social status of women in nineteenth century Bengal. At the end of her presentation, while answering questions from the audience about Vidyasagar's influence of modern-day feminism, she opined that Vidyasagar, being a male in a male dominated society of the nineteenth century Bengal, showed immense courage to fight against existing social norms for the upliftment of women in all areas of life. Overall, the seminar was a grand success.

The seminar ended with vote of thanks to the key speaker from the HoD of the Department of Philosophy.

Rationale behind the seminar:

In Indian logic a fallacy is known as Hetvābhāsa (Fallacies of Inference). The term is associated with reasoning. In western logic fallacies is a formal in nature. But in Indian philosophy, Naiyikas hold that logical forms of inference are the same for valid inferences. In India Hetvābhāsa is seen as a fallacy which mean what appears to be a reason in not actually a valid reason. To understand Hetvābhāsa we must break it into two components 'Hetu' (Reason) and Abhas (Glimpse). For the students of philosophy, particularly of Indian philosophy, to understand and have knowledge about Hetvābhāsa is absolutely necessary to understand to subject of philosophy. In order to keep our students abreast about the idea of hetvābhāsa and any modern research on the subject, the department of philosophy decided to conduct a seminar titled: 'Hetvābhāsa in Nyaya Philosophy.'

Topic: 'Hetvābhāsa in Nyaya Philosophy'

Date: 17-02-2023 (Wednesday). Time: 11 am onwards.

Venue: Seminar Hall

Organised by: Department of Philosophy, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 42

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Mr. Anisujjaman, State Aided College Teacher, Department of Philosophy, Jalangi Mahavidyalaya, Jalangi, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Report/Outcomes of the seminar:

Mr. Anisujjaman, State Aided College Teacher, Department of Philosophy, Jalangi Mahavidyalaya, delivered a well-structured lecture on the topic appropriately titled: 'Hetvābhāsa in Nyaya Philosophy'. He opined that as an epistemic process inference is extremely useful and is a great source of valid cognition (Pramas). but all inferences are not correct and inferential defect (Hetvābhāsa) is the factor that is responsible for invaliding or corrupting an inference. For the old school of naiyikas a Hetvābhāsa is defective Reason (Dusta-hetu). But according to new naiyayikas a Hetvābhāsa is the defect of inferential Reason (Hetur-dosa).

He discussed about the five primary types of hetvābhāsa in Nyaya philosophy namely- Sadharana hetvābhāsa (Generic Fallacy), Aśiddha Hetvābhāsa (Unproved Reason Fallacy), Viruddha Hetvābhāsa (Self-Contradictory Reason Fallacy), Satpratipaksa Hetvābhāsa (Counter-Reason Fallacy) and Badhita Hetvābhāsa (Ineffective Reason Fallacy). After a scholarly analysis of the five types of Hetvābhāsa in Nyaya Philosophy. He concluded that in modern times all students of Indian philosophy sought to refine their logical thinking and methodologies and thus enhance the accuracy of their inferences. In fact, according to Mr. Anisujjaman the ability to identify fallacy and distinguish valid Reasoning from flawed arguments is basically instrumental in fostering clear thinking and communication. At the end of the seminar, during the question answer session, while answering questions from the Participants he said hetvābhāsa serves as a foundational concept which promotes intellectual rigor and is immensely useful in philosophical discourse. Overall, the interest shown by the participants during the seminar was considered as a matter of great success for the department of philosophy. The seminar ended with a note of thanks to the key-speaker from the HoD of the Department of Philosophy.

Rationale behind the seminar:

Morality holds a central place in Indian Philosophy. It influences ethical thinking, individual behaviour and is entwined in our moral code of conduct. Naturally the exploration of Indian Philosophy and Morality inherent in it is absolutely necessary to study even basic Indian Philosophy. Student of philosophy must, therefore, understand the moral fabric within the Indian philosophical thought and thus the department of philosophy decided to conduct a seminar on the topic: 'Morality in Indian Philosophy.'

Topic: 'Morality in Indian Philosophy'

Date: 10-08-2022 (Wednesday). Time: 11 am onwards.

Venue: Seminar Hall

Organised by: Department of Philosophy, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 40

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Mr. Nazrul Islam, State Aided College Teacher, Department of Philosophy, Domkal Girls' College, Domkal, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Report/Outcomes Of The Seminar:

One of the foundational concepts in Indian ethical thought is Dharma, which is interlinked with Morality as a whole. Dharma and Morality can't be separated from each other. Dharma is seen as a universal principle and different philosophical schools in India, such as Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism offer moral code of conduct for their followers which is directly linked with their philosophy.

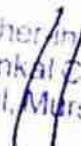

The 'Bhagavad Gita' of Hinduism discusses philosophy, morality and ethical principle and is a seminal text in Hinduism. Buddhist philosophy always highlight the 'Four Noble Truths' and the 'Eightfold Path' as inherent to lead a moral life and is important for spiritual upliftment and liberation of the body and soul. Likewise, Jain texts give immense important to principles of Ahimsa, Satya, Asteya, Brahmacharya, and Aparigraha- thus advocating moral code of conduct in everyday life and compassion towards all living beings leading to spiritual growth.

As key speaker in the seminar, Mr. Nazrul Islam, State Aided College Teacher (SACT), Department of Philosophy, Domkal Girls' College, Domkal, Murshidabad, presented a lecture on the topic- 'Morality in Indian Philosophy' highlighting the above issues. Throughout the lecture he discussed the need for the students to understand the value of studying Indian philosophy and morality inherent within it. So that not only they can lead their own life properly in this difficult modern times, but also become torch bearers of society for the future generation.

Participating students in the seminar showed keen interest on the topic of discussion. At the end of the seminar, during the question-answer session many students asked critical questions which were answered by Mr. Nazrul Islam to meet their curiosity. The resource person thanked everyone for their active participation and interest they had shown on the topic of discussion. He mentioned that it was a pleasant experience for him to meet the students of the department of Philosophy of Dumkal College.

The seminar ended with vote of thanks to the speaker from the HoD of the department of Philosophy.

Seminar Summary Report: Application of Quantum Mechanics

Date: 14/11/2022

Organized by: Department of physics, DumkalCollege.

Speaker: Md Rafi, SACT, S.R.Foteपुरia college, Murshidabad, WestBengal.

Overview:

The seminar on the application of quantum mechanics provided a comprehensive overview of how quantum principles are applied in various fields. The event brought together experts from academia and industry to discuss recent advancements, practical applications, and future prospects of quantum mechanics.

Key Topics Discussed:

1. Fundamental Principles of Quantum Mechanics:

Md Rafi began the seminar with an introduction to the fundamental principles of quantum mechanics, including wave-particle duality, superposition, and entanglement.

he highlighted the historical development of quantum theory and its foundational experiments.

2. Quantum Computing:

Md Rafi Smith focused on the applications of quantum mechanics in computing. He explained how quantum bits (qubits) differ from classical bits and the potential of quantum computers to solve complex problems exponentially faster than classical computers. Key algorithms such as Shor's algorithm for factoring large numbers and Grover's algorithm for database search were discussed.

Md Rafi White elaborated on the use of quantum mechanics in cryptography, particularly quantum key distribution (QKD). he described how QKD can provide theoretically unbreakable encryption and its implications for secure communication.

- Current challenges and advancements in the field were also covered.

4. Quantum Sensing and Metrology:

The seminar highlighted the applications of quantum mechanics in precision measurement and sensing technologies.

Md Rafi discussed how quantum sensors can achieve unprecedented sensitivity in detecting physical quantities such as time, magnetic fields, and gravitational waves.

Q&A Session:

- The seminar featured an interactive Q&A session where attendees posed questions to the speakers.
- Topics ranged from the practical implementation of quantum technologies to ethical considerations and the timeline for widespread adoption.

Conclusion:

The seminar successfully highlighted the diverse applications of quantum mechanics and its potential to revolutionize various industries. The exchange of ideas and knowledge among participants fostered a deeper understanding of the current state and future prospects of quantum technologies.

Summary Report: Seminar on Crystal Growth Techniques

Date: 10/12/2022

Organized by: Department of Physics, Dumkal College

Speaker: Anirban Roychowdhury, Assistant Professor, Krishnath College,
Murshidabad, West Bengal

Overview:

The seminar on crystal growth techniques provided an in-depth overview of the various methods and advancements in the field of crystal growth. Experts from academia and industry shared their insights on the fundamental principles, practical applications, and future trends in this critical area of materials science.

Key Topics Discussed:

1. Introduction to Crystal Growth:

Anirban Roychowdhury opened the seminar with a comprehensive introduction to crystal growth, emphasizing its importance in various industries, including electronics, photonics, and pharmaceuticals.

- He explained the basic principles of crystallization and the significance of controlled crystal growth for material properties.

2. Methods of Crystal Growth:

Anirban Roychowdhury discussed various crystal growth techniques, including:

Czochralski Process: A method for growing single crystals, widely used for silicon wafer production in the semiconductor industry.

- Bridgman-Stockbarger Technique: A method used for growing large crystals, particularly useful for compound semiconductors.

Hydrothermal Synthesis: A technique for growing crystals from aqueous solutions at high temperature and pressure, suitable for materials that decompose at high temperatures.

- Chemical Vapor Deposition (CVD): A process for growing thin film crystals, widely used in electronic and optoelectronic device fabrication.

Anirban Roychowdhury highlighted the challenges faced in crystal growth, such as defect formation, impurities, and maintaining uniformity. He discussed the latest advancements in overcoming these challenges, including the use of advanced monitoring techniques and improved growth environments.

4. Applications of Crystal Growth:

The seminar covered the diverse applications of crystal growth, including:

- Semiconductor Industry: Growth of silicon and other semiconductor crystals for electronic devices.
- Optoelectronics: Production of crystals for lasers, LEDs, and photodetectors.
- Pharmaceuticals: Growth of pharmaceutical crystals to enhance drug efficacy and stability.
- Materials Science: Development of novel materials with tailored properties for specific applications.

5. Future Directions in Crystal Growth:

- The seminar concluded with a panel discussion on the future directions in crystal growth research.
- Panelists emphasized the importance of interdisciplinary collaboration, the potential of nanotechnology in crystal growth, and the role of computational modeling in predicting and optimizing growth processes.

Q&A Session:

- An interactive Q&A session followed, where attendees asked questions about specific techniques, industry applications, and emerging trends.
- The discussion provided valuable insights into practical challenges and solutions in the field of crystal growth.

Conclusion:

The seminar successfully highlighted the significance of crystal growth techniques in advancing technology and materials science. The exchange of knowledge and ideas among experts and attendees fostered a deeper understanding of the current state and future prospects of crystal growth.

Overview:

The seminar on nuclear reactions provided a comprehensive exploration of various aspects related to nuclear reactions, ranging from fundamental concepts to practical applications. It brought together experts from academia and research institutions to discuss the mechanisms, energy implications, and technological advancements associated with nuclear reactions.

Key Topics Discussed:

1. Introduction to Nuclear Reactions:

Cordelia Nasrin Banu began the seminar with an introduction to nuclear reactions, explaining the principles of nuclear physics and the different types of nuclear reactions, including fusion and fission.

she emphasized the role of nuclear reactions in energy production, medicine (radiotherapy), and scientific research.

2. Types of Nuclear Reactions:

- The seminar covered various types of nuclear reactions, such as:

- Nuclear Fusion: The process where atomic nuclei combine to form a heavier nucleus, releasing large amounts of energy. It is the process that powers the sun and stars.

- Nuclear Fission: The splitting of atomic nuclei into smaller fragments, accompanied by the release of energy and neutrons. It is the basis of nuclear power reactors.

- Nuclear Decay: Spontaneous emission of particles or radiation from unstable atomic nuclei, leading to the transformation of one element into another.

3. Energy Generation and Applications:

Cordelia Nasrin Banu discussed the energy generation potential of nuclear reactions, comparing the efficiency and environmental impact of nuclear power with fossil fuels and renewable energy sources.

- Applications in nuclear medicine, including cancer treatment and diagnostic imaging using radioisotopes, were also highlighted.

4. Technological Advancements:

- The seminar explored recent advancements in nuclear reaction technologies, such as:

- Advanced Reactor Designs: Next-generation reactor designs aimed at improving safety, efficiency, and waste management.

- Nuclear Fusion Research: Progress in achieving controlled fusion reactions for practical energy production, including ITER (International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor) and other experimental facilities.

- Radioisotope Production: Techniques for producing radioisotopes used in medical diagnostics and industrial applications.

Q&A Session:

- An interactive Q&A session allowed participants to engage with speakers on topics ranging from reactor design and fusion research to societal acceptance and policy implications of nuclear energy.

Conclusion:

The seminar successfully highlighted the significance of Nuclear reaction. The exchange of knowledge and ideas among experts and attendees fostered a deeper understanding of the current state and future prospects nuclear reactions.

Acknowledgments:

- Special thanks to the organizing committee, speakers, and participants for their contributions to a successful seminar.

- Gratitude to the sponsors and partners for their support.

Sir,

I would like most respectfully to inform you that the department of Bengali plans to organize a departmental seminar on 30/11/2022 starting from 12 PM onwards. Sri Partha Das, Associate Professor of Bengali, Murshidabad Adarsha Mahavidyalaya, Islampur, Murshidabad, will be presenting a lecture on the topic 'Prachin Bangla Sahitya : Ekti Alochona' as key speaker in the said seminar I also want to invite all Students of our College to participate in the said Seminar.

So, I earnestly request to grant permission for organizing the said Seminar to our department and oblige.

Thanking You,

Yours sincerely,

বিষয় : প্রাচীন বাংলা সাহিত্য : একটি আলোচনা

তারিখ : ৩০/১১/২০২২

আলোচক : অধ্যাপক পার্থ দাস, সহযোগী অধ্যাপক, মুর্শিদাবাদ আদর্শ মহাবিদ্যালয়

এই আলোচনার মূল উদ্দেশ্য ছিল প্রায় অবলুপ্ত প্রাচীন বাংলা সাহিত্যে নানা দিগন্ত ছোঁয়ার চেষ্টা। বিশেষত প্রাচীন ও মধ্যযুগের বাংলা ভাষার বিবর্তনের রূপরেখা ও তার গঠনগত বৈশিষ্ট্যগুলি উঠে আসার লক্ষ্য নিয়ে এতে আমরা সক্রিয়ভাবে অংশ নিয়েছি।

অধ্যাপক পার্থ দাস তাঁর বক্তব্যে তুলে ধরেন চর্যাপদ থেকে শ্রীকৃষ্ণকীর্তনের ভাষাগত বিবর্তনের একটি স্পষ্ট ও সুচারু রূপরেখা। চর্যাপদ যে বাংলার প্রাচীনতম সাহিত্যিক নিদর্শন সে সম্পর্কে নিজস্ব ভাবনার প্রকাশ প্রতিফলিত করার চেষ্টা করেছেন। পরবর্তীকালের বাংলা কিভাবে আদর্শায়িত এক সাহিত্যিক ভাষার রূপায়ণ লাভ করেছে সে সম্পর্কে একটি মূল্যবান আলোচনা আমাদের কাছে তিনি তুলে ধরেন।

সর্বমোট ১১০জন ছাত্র-ছাত্রী ও শিক্ষকমণ্ডলীর উপস্থিতিতে সমগ্র আলোচনাচক্রটি এক প্রাণবন্ত পরিবেশ তৈরি করেছে।

জনৈক ছাত্র এই আলোচনার সমাপ্তিতে বেশ কয়েকটি প্রশ্ন করেছিলেন। যেমন- “চর্যাপদ বাংলা সাহিত্যে ভাষাগত কাঠামো গঠনে কতটা সহায়ক হয়েছে তা বর্ণনা দিন।” “চর্যাপদের কাব্যরীতি কতটা উত্তরকালের বাংলা সাহিত্যের পক্ষে সহায়তা করেছে?” মোটামুটি আলোচনাচক্রটি সাফল্যের সঙ্গে এভাবে সমাপ্ত হয়। সর্বশেষে বিভাগের পক্ষ থেকে ড. অচিন্ত্যকুমার গাঙ্গুলী ধন্যবাদসূচক বক্তৃতা দেন।

বিষয় : আধুনিক বাংলা ছোটগল্প

তারিখ : ০৬/১২/২০২২

আলোচক : অধ্যাপক বিভাস বিশ্বাস, স্টেট এডেড কলেজ টিচার, ডোমকল গার্লস কলেজ

এই আলোচনার মূল উদ্দেশ্য ছিল আধুনিক বাংলা ছোটগল্পের ধারায় নানান রূপ ও বৈচিত্র্য সম্পর্কে আলোকপাত করা। বিশেষত আধুনিককালের ছোটগল্পের উৎপত্তি ও বিকাশ ধারায় নানান দিগন্তকে স্পর্শ করে আলোচনাটি মনকে সম্পূর্ণরূপে আচ্ছন্ন করে ফেলে।

রবীন্দ্রোত্তরকালের জগদীশ গুপ্ত, মানিক বন্দ্যোপাধ্যায়, প্রেমেন্দ্র মিত্র, শৈলজানন্দ প্রভৃতির রচনায় ছোটগল্পের বিস্তার ও রূপবৈচিত্র্যকে চমৎকার রসগ্রাহী আলোচনার মাধ্যমে তুলে ধরেছেন অধ্যাপক বিভাস বিশ্বাস। প্রথম ও দ্বিতীয় বিশ্বযুদ্ধের মধ্যবর্তী সময়ে যে আর্থ সামাজিক রূপান্তর সংঘটিত হয়েছে তার আঁচ প্রত্যক্ষভাবে ছোটগল্পের উপর এসে পড়েছে।

সর্বমোট ১০৫জন ছাত্র-ছাত্রী ও শিক্ষকমণ্ডলী এই আলোচনাচক্রে সক্রিয়ভাবে অংশগ্রহণ করেন।

দুইজন ছাত্রছাত্রী এই আলোচনার সমাপ্তিতে প্রশ্নোত্তরে সক্রিয় অংশ নেয়। এদের মধ্যে কয়েকটি উল্লেখযোগ্য প্রশ্ন হল - “কল্লোল যুগে গল্পকারদের প্রধান বৈশিষ্ট্যগুলি কি কি ছিল?” “প্রেমেন্দ্র মিত্রের রচনায় সমকালীন নারী স্বাধীনতার পরিচয় কিভাবে এসেছে একটু বলুন?” মোটামুটি আলোচনাচক্রটি সাফল্যের সঙ্গে এভাবে সমাপ্ত হয়। সর্বশেষে বিভাগের পক্ষ থেকে মতিউর ^{বিগ্রাম} ধন্যবাদসূচক বক্তৃতা দেন।

আলোচক : ড. প্রসেনজিৎ দে, স্টেট এডেড কলেজ টিচার, মুর্শিদাবাদ আদর্শ মহাবিদ্যালয়

এই আলোচনার মূল উদ্দেশ্য ছিল রবীন্দ্রনাথ তাঁর জীবদ্দশায় সাধারণ মানুষের জন্য আর্থ-সামাজিক উন্নতির চেষ্টা ও সমবায়ের মাধ্যমে একটি নতুন যুগের পরিসরকে গড়ে তোলার আকাঙ্ক্ষা আপামর মানুষ কিভাবে সাড়া দিতে পারে- তার একটা সাধারণ চালচিত্র আলোচক তাঁর আলোচনায় তুলে ধরেন।

আধুনিক কৃষি উন্নয়নমূলক কর্মসূচির মধ্যে ভূমিপূজা থেকে বৃক্ষরোপণ অনুষ্ঠান সবকিছুই এর অঙ্গ ছিল। সমবায়ের ব্যবস্থাপনার মধ্যে দিয়ে সাজাদপুর, পাতিসর, কালিগ্রাম প্রমুখ এলাকার বাসিন্দাদের জীবনের ভাবনাচিন্তাকে উন্নততর করে তোলার চেষ্টা তিনি সতত করে গেছেন। একই সঙ্গে মনে রাখার যে, নোবেল পুরস্কার প্রাপ্তির পর প্রচুর টাকা দিয়ে তিনি সেচ ব্যবস্থার নর্দমা কাটার কাজ করেন। সমবায়গুলির উন্নতি সাধনের জন্য নিজের পুরস্কারলব্ধ অর্থ পতিসর ব্যাঙ্কে জমা রাখার চেষ্টা করেন।

সর্বমোট ৯২জন ছাত্র-ছাত্রী ও শিক্ষকমণ্ডলী এই আলোচনাচক্রে সক্রিয়ভাবে অংশগ্রহণ করেন।

দুইজন ছাত্রছাত্রী এই আলোচনার সমাপ্তিতে প্রশ্নোত্তরে সক্রিয় অংশ নেয়। এদের মধ্যে কয়েকটি উল্লেখযোগ্য প্রশ্ন হল - “প্রজাদের শারীরিক উন্নতির প্রতি তিনি কী সচেতনভাবে যুক্ত ছিলেন তাঁর জমিদারীতে?” “প্রজাদের সামাজিক মূল্যবোধের বিকাশে তাঁর ভূমিকা কেমন ছিল?” মোটামুটি আলোচনাচক্রটি সাফল্যের সঙ্গে এভাবে সমাপ্ত হয়। সর্বশেষে বিভাগের পক্ষ থেকে সোমা কর্মকার ধন্যবাদসূচক বক্তৃতা দেন।

Enclosures: Seminar Schedule

Report of the Seminar

The seminar on The Degeneration of Wetlands in Murshidabad was held on September 15, 2022 to address the critical issue of wetland degradation in Murshidabad district. The seminar aimed to raise awareness and formulate strategies to mitigate the adverse impacts on these vital ecosystems. The IQAC Coordinator, Dr Sandip Kumar Rajak of our college inaugurated the seminar with a short speech.

Dr. Debabrata Mondal, Assistant Professor of Subhas Chandra Bose Centenary College, Murshidabad inaugurated the seminar with an insightful lecture, highlighting the ecological significance of wetlands as biodiversity hotspots and natural water purifiers. He presented alarming data showing a rapid decline in wetland areas due to urbanization, agricultural expansion, and pollution in Murshidabad district.

One of the core discussions revolved around the socio-economic impacts of wetland loss. Experts noted that local communities dependent on wetlands for fishing and agriculture are facing declining livelihoods. The loss of wetlands also exacerbates flood risks, impacting human settlements and infrastructure. He emphasized the need for integrated water resource management and stricter enforcement of environmental regulations. Successful case studies of wetland restoration from other regions were presented as models for Murshidabad. The event underscored the urgent need for concerted efforts to protect and restore Murshidabad's wetlands to preserve their ecological and socio-economic benefits. Students were enriched a lot with the lecture. The seminar ended with vote of thanks by Dr Swati Mollah, associate Professor of Geography.

Subject: Request for Permission to Organize a Departmental Seminar

Respected sir,

I am writing to seek your approval to organize a departmental seminar on Role of data analysis in Geography, scheduled to be held on 08.02.2023 at Seminar Hall of our college.

The primary objectives of this seminar are to discuss recent advancements in the field of geographical data acquisition and facilitate knowledge exchange. We have planned to invite esteemed scholar in the field as resource person.

We believe that this seminar will provide significant academic value to our students and faculty, fostering an environment of learning and collaboration. The proposed schedule is as follows:

Opening Introduction: 11.30 am

Keynote Address: 11.35 am

Speech by Resource Person: 11.40 am

Q&A Session: 12.40 pm

Closing Remarks: 12.50 pm

We are committed to ensuring that all necessary arrangements are in place, including logistical support, technical equipment, and refreshments for the participants. Furthermore, we will adhere to any guidelines and protocols required by the institution to conduct the seminar smoothly and successfully.

We kindly request your permission to proceed with the planning and execution of this event. Your support and approval are crucial to the success of this seminar.

Thank you for considering our request. We are looking forward to your positive response and are hopeful for your approval.

Warm regards,

Dear Dr. Ismail Haque,

I hope this letter finds you well. On behalf of the Department of Geography, Dumkal College, I am pleased to extend an invitation to you to serve as a resource person for our upcoming seminar on Data analysis in Geography, which will be held on 08.08.2023 at Seminar Hall.

We are organizing this seminar to gain knowledge regarding different geographical data and the analysis. Given your esteemed expertise and significant contributions to this field, we believe that your participation would greatly enrich the discussions and provide invaluable insights to our attendees.

Please find the tentative schedule and further details about the event enclosed with this letter. We are happy to accommodate any specific requirements you might have and look forward to discussing any suggestions you may propose to enhance the seminar experience.

We sincerely hope you will accept this invitation and contribute your expertise to make this seminar a resounding success. Kindly confirm your availability at your earliest convenience by contacting us at swatimollah@gmail.com or 9734070065. Should you have any questions or require additional information, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Thank you for considering our invitation. We are excited about the possibility of your participation and look forward to your positive response.

Report of the Seminar

The seminar on The Role of Data Analysis in Geography was held on February 08, 2023 to discuss the transformative impact of data-driven methodologies on Geography. The IQAC Coordinator, Dr Sandip Kumar Rajak of our college inaugurated the seminar with a short speech.

Dr Ismail Haque, Research Fellow, Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations (ICRIER), New Delhi opened the seminar theme on the evolution of data analysis techniques in geography, emphasizing the shift from traditional methods to advanced computational tools like Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and remote sensing. She illustrated how these tools enable more precise mapping, spatial analysis, and predictive modelling. The resource person showcased case studies where data analytics helped in resource allocation, regional planning and disaster response.

Another significant aspect addressed in the seminar the use of data analysis in recent research such as climate change. She demonstrated how satellite imagery and GIS data are used to monitor environmental changes and predict future trends, aiding in policy-making and conservation efforts. Overall, the seminar underscored the pivotal role of data analysis in advancing geographic knowledge and solving real-world problems. Our students participated actively with the discussion. The seminar ended with vote of thanks by Dr Swati Mollah, Associate Professor of Geography.

Report of the Seminar

The seminar on Depletion of Groundwater in Murshidabad was held on August 13, 2022 to discuss the alarming decline in groundwater levels in Murshidabad district. The IQAC Coordinator, Dr Sandip Kumar Rajak of our college inaugurated the seminar with a short speech. The seminar aimed to address the causes, consequences, and potential solutions to this pressing environmental issue.

Noorjahan Khatoon, Associate Professor of Geography, Berhampore College, Murshidabad opened the seminar presenting data that showed a significant drop in groundwater levels over the past decade. She attributed this depletion to factors such as over-extraction for agricultural irrigation, rapid urbanization, and insufficient rainfall recharge due to changing climate patterns. She highlighted the socio-economic impacts of groundwater depletion.

The resource person also shared the local farmers struggles with reduced water availability, which has led to lower crop yields and increased financial strain. She discussed the long-term implications, including potential conflicts over water resources and the threat to drinking water supplies. The seminar highlighted on current initiatives aimed at managing groundwater resources more sustainably, such as promoting water-efficient irrigation techniques and implementing stricter groundwater extraction regulations. All participants actively participated in the seminar. The seminar ended with vote of thanks given by Sri Arindom Biswas, Assistant Professor of this department.

Topic: 'Rethinking Mahatma Gandhi's Contribution for Indian Independence'

Date: 08.12.2022 (Thursday). Time: 12 noon onwards.

Venue: Seminar Hall

Organised by: Department of History, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 46

No. of the teachers present: 5

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Dr. Biswarup Ganguly, Assistant Professor of History, Murshidabad Adarsha Mahavidyalaya, Islampur, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Rationale behind the seminar titled: Rethinking Mahatma Gandhi's Contribution to Indian Independence

Mahatma Gandhi's contribution to the Indian freedom struggle was immense and he was the leader who guided India towards Independence. He, along with other freedom fighters, compelled the British to leave India. His philosophy of non-violence and civil disobedience, his tactics of non-cooperation and civil disobedience, and his leadership united the Indian mass and forced the British to confront the demands of the Indian people. His philosophy of life, both in theory and praxis, and his words are still a source of inspiration for millions, not only in India but also abroad.

The year 2022 is the 153rd birth anniversary of the Mahatma. This is also the 75th year of the Independence of India. The Department of History, Dumkal College, thus decided to commemorate both the events through departmental seminar titled: Rethinking Mahatma Gandhi's Contribution to Indian Independence.

Report / Outcome of the Seminar

Mahatma Gandhi is the most acknowledged figure of the Indian National Movement as he specifically led non-violent civil revolts. He shaped India's independence and his Satyagraha and non-violent movement against British Rule in India became an inspiration for the masses. He moved forward with his brand of Satyagraha and started the movement at Champaran, Bihar, which later spread throughout the country. He demanded a greater voice for Indians in the British government and administration.

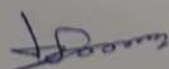

Gandhi led three Satyagraha movements in his initial days - Champaran Satyagraha in 1917, Kheda Satyagraha in 1918, and Ahmedabad Mill strike in 1918. The greatest lesson he provided us during the freedom struggle was to never give up or prefer violence to make ourselves succeed.

His leadership and his method of non-violent resistance, the Satyagraha, which was epitomised in the Khilafat Movement, The Non-Cooperation Movement, the Civil Disobedience Movement finally led to the independence of India from almost two hundred years of British rule in 1947.

Dr. Biswarup Ganguly delivered a well-researched lecture on the topic of the seminar and was pleasantly surprised when at the end of his presentation, students flooded him with questions about various aspect of Gandhiji's leadership role in the Freedom Movement of India and related topics. Overall, the seminar was a grand success.

Topic: 'Local History and Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad'

Date: 20.02.2023 (Monday). Time: 12 Noon onwards.

Venue: Seminar Hall

Organised by: Department of History, Dumkal College

No. of the students present: 44

No. of the teachers present: 5

Number of the resource person/s: 1

Name of the Resource Person: Esarul Islam, State Aided College Teacher (SACT), Domkal Girls' College, Domkal, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Rationale behind the seminar titled: 'Local History and Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad'

Local history attempts to reconstruct the history of a place to understand how the way people who lived there connects to the community's present and future. History is typically taught with a focus on national and international events, but ignores the places students engage with most, e.g. their neighbourhoods. Involving students in local history helps them to learn to analyse their place in larger events. By understanding their part in history, people become directly involved in their studies of the past. By focusing on local history, the students will be able to gather knowledge and information about their local history that will help them to analyse and appreciate the local traditions and cultures. They will become aware of protecting the local history, cultures, and traditions. Students will learn to question history as it has been taught and history as it is being made around them.

Historical or heritage tourism means traveling with the primary purpose of exploring the history and heritage of a place. It may mean simple sightseeing of renowned historical architecture, visiting local museums that document the past through artifacts, art, and literary remains, or even something as quaint as sampling authentic historical recipes in their place of origin. People often combine their love of history with other tourist delights like shopping, amusement park visits, and luxurious resort stays. Thus, places that have a rich heritage and have, at the same time, designed a fine tourist infrastructure to cater to all categories of tourists get rated the highest in terms of popularity as tourist destinations.

Murshidabad district in West Bengal being a place of great historical and cultural importance demands attention from students of history- both on account of researching local history and understanding the value of Heritage Tourism. Local History and Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad is also part of the history honours syllabus of the University of Kalyani. This is the reason Department of History, Dumkal College, decided to organize a seminar titled 'Local History and Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad' to enrich the students about the said subject.

Report / Outcome of the Seminar

Heritage Tourism is defined as traveling to places of historical and cultural interest that authentically represent the stories, artifacts, activities of the people who resided there in the past.

Murshidabad district is known as a place of historical importance. As the place of the first independent king of Bengal, Shashank and capital of Nawabi Bengal -Murshidabad is dotted with historical buildings, places of cultural values and many unique cultural events like 'Bera Festival' are held here.

Esarul Islam, State Aided College Teacher (SACT), Domkal Girls' College, Domkal, Murshidabad, West Bengal, presented a lecture on the topic- 'Local History and Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad' as key speaker. He opined that the scope of expansion of Heritage Tourism in Murshidabad has a great future. There is also scope for generating much more revenue from tourism in Murshidabad if all the places of historical importance are advertised properly. As a part of improvement in the tourism sector, hotels, restaurants, local handicrafts will also improve. While answering questions from the audience about the scope of employment in the local tourist sector for the students of history, Mr. Esarul Islam stated that there is not only scope for becoming tourist guides, but also a scope for studying archaeology and museology.

The seminar ended with vote of thanks to the key speaker from the HoD of the Department of History.

Rationale behind the seminar: Debating the Past: Revisiting 75 Years of Indian Independence.

The year 1947 was the year in which India gained Independence from the British rule. Since that year, 15th August is celebrated as Independence Day across the nation. It is the day when we all get together to thank and remember the innumerable sacrifices of our great freedom fighters who helped our nation become free from the clutches of the British rule. The year 2022 is a special year as we will be completing 75th anniversary of Indian Independence, which the Government of India has decided to celebrate as 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav'.

In keeping with this national spirit, the Department of History, Dumkal College, has planned to organize a departmental seminar to commemorate 75 years of India's independence from the British rule. So, we have fixed the title of the said seminar to be: Debating the Past: Revisiting 75 Years of Indian Independence.

Report / Outcome of the Seminar

To celebrate and commemorate 75 years of independence and the glorious history of the people of India, their culture and achievements, the Government of India took the initiative 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav'. This Mahotsav is dedicated to the people of India who have been instrumental in bringing India thus far in its evolutionary journey. The official journey of 'Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav' commenced on 12th March 2021 which started a 75-week countdown to our 75th anniversary of independence and will end post a year on 15th August 2023.

Keeping in spirit with this initiative by the Government of India the Department of History of Dumkal college organised the above-mentioned seminar just a day after the official closing of the celebration. Shri Chitrabhanu Biswas, Assistant Professor of History, Domkal Girls' College, Domkal, Murshidabad- the key speaker of the seminar delivered a well-researched lecture on the topic. In his presentation, he highlighted the glorious achievements of the people of India during the last seven decades of independence. He also hoped that Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi's vision of 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat' will become a reality in near future. During the course of his lecture Shri Biswas stated the immense power and stability of the democratic system of the country which have stood the test of time. At the end of his presentation, students flooded him with questions about various aspect of India's seven-decade long journey towards achieving a powerful developed country, particularly about India's recent foreign policy initiatives. Shri Biswas stated that he was genuinely surprised by range of questions he had to face from the audience.

At the end of the seminar the HoD of History thanked participating students and the session ended with a note of thanks to Shri Chitrabhanu Biswas. Overall, the seminar was a grand success.

Report of the Seminar	This was the first departmental seminar organized after the passing of Covid – 19 Pandemic. But still the college authority and our department were alert in taking precautions as far as possible during the same. We had pleasure of having Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik as the hon 'able Principal to inaugurate the seminar. Head of the Department, Bengali, Dr. Achintya Kumar Ganguly and Head of the Department, Geography, Dr. Swati Molla, were also there to greet the respected Professors on the behalf of the College. The topic of discussion was very interesting. The two young professors went on discussing the Idea and Systems of the Politics from two different perspectives - Dr, Rajat Roy had tried to put an overview of politics and its functions in the geographical territory of the state while Dr. Abdul Matin saw it from its international domain. They both agreed on the common features of the state-politics but differed to the nature of the politics in the two different domains. Their talks inevitably gave rise of many questions and debates were took place between the Speakers; and among the students as to the debates. A stormy and excellent session of opinion exchange overwhelmed the event. The Professors praised our students for being attentive and inquisitive. The wonderful seminar ended with refreshment for all present there.

DEPARTMENTAL SEMINAR REPORT

Title of the Seminar	'Concept of Sovereignty'.
Date and Venue	20-12-2022 at Seminar Hall.
Invited Speaker	Prof. Oli Mohammad, R.B.C. College, PO - Kandi, Murshidabad, West Bengal.

Report of the Seminar	Dr. Bhabesh Pramanik, the hon'able principal of our college inaugurated the seminar with his profound speech on the restoration of academic workings after a long pose. Our IQAC Dr. Sandip Kumar Rajak's speech following the principal's emphasized upon returning to the regular college activities as it were before the pandemic and going beyond the limitations of online teaching-;learning process gradually in coming months. Prof. Oli Mohammad started his discussion with the history of state and evolution of the idea of sovereignty over time, basically in Europe. He traced the fullest growth and location of sovereignty in the modern state after the 'Peace Treaty of Westphalia' in 1648. In the last five centuries the concept of sovereignty changed and faced challenges which culminated in the neo-liberal era of globalization for the states had been losing its external absolute power for economic, political, cultural and even ecological reasons. Prof Mohammad also posed a critique of sovereignty in the context of global politics. The question-answer session seemed to be overwhelmed with students' queries and zeal, but had to be restricted keeping Covid-protocols in mind. The seminar had ended with distribution of small lunch packets for all participants.

Departmental Seminar Report

Title of the Seminar	'Ecology and Global Politics'.
Date and Venue	05 th June, 2023 at Seminar Hall.
Speakers	Prof. Parimal Saha, SACT-I, Department of Environmental Studies and Prof. Samiul Mandal, SECT-I, Department of Political Science, Dumkal College.
No. of Students/ Participants Present	55
Report of the Seminar	This seminar organized by the department of Political Science aimed at to shed light on the relationship between the ecology and politics at the global level, commemorating the 'World Environment Day' and the impact of the same upon us. Prof. Saha had demonstrated the changing pattern of the climate across the globe in recent times due to human-made hazards and lack of understanding about the inimical future of the mother earth. Prof. Mondal, on the other hand argued that the politics and global games among the so-called nation-states had been one of the major causes of ecological damages. Hence, politics and ecology affect each other over the decades. But both of the speakers were convinced about the reversal of current situation as human beings went forward against the vile politics and preservation of ecology.
