Location: Nearby Locality (Basantapur village)

No of participants: 27

No. of Teachers engaged: 05

Outcome of the activity:

The faculty and students of the Department of History organized a poster rally on 03/08/2022 as part of the 'Swachh Bharat Abhiyan', the world's largest sanitation initiative launched by the Prime Minister of India in 2014 to achieve an Open Defecation Free India by October 2, 2019 and is continuing till date. Swachh Bharat Mission was started as a tribute to Mahatma Gandhi's vision of a clean India.

At the beginning of the rally, the teachers of the department informed the students about the history and importance of the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan. They were encouraged by the teachers to share their experiences and insights with the residents of the locality on maintaining cleanliness in their homes and neighborhoods.

Participating students carrying related placards and posters engaged people all along the rally route to educate them about the importance of cleanliness, proper waste disposal methods, and the goals of the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan. Some of the students also delivered roadside speeches on the importance of 'Swachhata' in both home and neighbourhood. They also encouraged everyone along the rally route to actively participate in cleaning up litter and waste.

At the end of the rally, participating students took a collective pledge where participants vowed to uphold cleanliness standards in their daily lives, actively participate in cleanliness drives, and spread awareness about the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan to others.

It was felt that the rally by enthusiastic students actually enhanced its impact and effectiveness in promoting the goals of the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan and fostering a culture of cleanliness and environmental responsibility within the students and community.

The need was also felt that in future, when such rally will be organized, it will be much better and effective to combine the rally with a plantation drive to promote environmental awareness and sustainability.

Organic farming is a production system which avoids or largely excludes the use of synthetically compounded fertilizers, pesticides, growth regulators, genetically modified organisms, stubble burning, and livestock food additives. To the maximum extent possible organic farming system rely upon crop rotations, use of crop residues, animal manures, legumes, green manures, off farm organic wastes, biofertilizers, mechanical cultivation, mineral bearing rocks and aspects of biological control to maintain soil productivity and till to supply plant nutrients and to control insect, weeds and other pests.

Organic methods can increase farm productivity, repair decades of environmental damage and knit small farm families into more sustainable distribution networks leading to improved food security if they organize themselves in production, certification and marketing. In the last few years, an increasing number of farmers have shown a lack of interest in farming, and people who used to cultivate are migrating to other areas. Organic farming can help achieve both self-sufficiency and food security. The land and water can be severely poisoned if chemical fertilizers and toxic pesticides are used in large quantities. Loss of topsoil, decrease in soil fertility, surface and ground water contamination, and loss of genetic diversity are among the severe environmental consequences of this.

SAVE WATER, SAVE OUR PLANET

Water is a precious resource,
It's time to conserve, it's time to enforce.

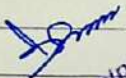

From the mountains to the sea,
Water is vital for you and me.

Don't waste it, don't let it run,
Save every drop, one by one.

Turn off the tap while brushing your teeth,
It's a small step, but it's a big relief.

Fix the leaks, mend the pipes,
Save water, and save your life.

Plant a tree, it will help,
It's time to act and not just yelp.

Outcome of the Campaign

Child marriage is an age-old social evil, and also a heinous crime that robs children of their childhood. India's Census 2011 revealed 12 million children were married before attaining the legal age, of which 5.2 million were girls. In India, a staggering 23.3% of women between the 20-24 age group were married before they turned 18 (2019-2021, NFHS-5). Understanding the seriousness of the issue, the Supreme Court of India declared child marriage as child rape, terming it a major child protection crisis.

The faculty and students of the Department of Philosophy organized a poster rally as part of 'Campaign Against Child Marriage' on 20/06/2022 against child marriage to educate and inform the people of the locality about the evil of child marriage on both the mental and physical health of minor girls getting married at an early age.

At the beginning of the rally, the teachers of the department informed the students about the evil and negative societal impact of child marriage and importance of the rally to educate people about this evil. Participating students were encouraged by the teachers to share their views about the evil impact of child marriage on society as a whole.

Participating students carrying related placards and posters engaged people all along the rally route to educate them about the importance of resisting incidences of child marriage in the locality, educate minor girls about their right to fight against this evil practise and also to inform the law enforcing agencies to counter such incidences among their friends and acquaintances. The students also distributed pamphlets to the passersby explaining the evils of child marriage on the body and mind of young brides and its negative social impact.

At the end of the rally, participating students took a collective pledge to fight the evil practice of child marriage throughout their lives in future and to spread the message against this evil practice in their neighbourhood.

Outcome of the activity:

The students and teachers of the Department of Philosophy organized a rally in the nearby locality of Basantapur village on 19-10-2022 with the aim of creating awareness about the value of Human Rights in our society. The aim of the campaign was to create compassionate citizens for our democratic society. Human Rights are basically the rights that every person has by virtue of being a human being. These are protected as legal rights ranging from municipal to international law. Human rights are universal. Basic human rights include the right to life, right to fair trial, right to remedy by competent tribunal, right to liberty and personal security, right to own property, right to education, right of peaceful assembly and association, right to marriage and family, right to nationality and freedom to change it, freedom of speech, freedom from discrimination, freedom from slavery, freedom of thought, conscience and religion, freedom of movement, right of opinion and information, right to adequate living standard and freedom from interference with privacy, family, home and correspondence.

While these rights are protected by law, many of these are still violated by people for different reasons. Some of these rights are even violated by the state. The United Nations committees have been formed in order to ensure that every individual enjoys these basic rights. Governments of different countries and many non-government organizations have also been formed to monitor and protect these rights.

Holding colourful banners, participating students of the Philosophy department of the marched through the locality aiming to raise awareness about the value of universal human rights and the challenges faced by the people in upholding the values and lessons about human rights. They particularly engaged people along the rally route urging them to understand their basic human rights such as rights to education, rights to livelihood, rights to free speech as enshrined in our constitution.

At the end of the campaign the students felt that it was an excellent initiative, especially when led by college students who can inspire their peers and communities to understand and defend the values and importance of basic human rights.

Name of the Extension Activity: Rally on Importance of tree plantation

Date: 16/12/2022

Location: Nearby Locality (Basantapur village)

No of participants: 16

No. of Teachers engaged: 04

Outcome of the activity:

The faculty and students of the Department of Physics organised a poster rally on 16/12/2022 as part of the 'Importance of tree plantation',

At the beginning of the rally, the teachers of the department informed the students about the history and importance of the Tree plantation. Tree plantation rallies play a crucial role in environmental conservation by raising awareness about the benefits of trees, such as improving air quality, combating climate change, and providing habitats for wildlife. These rallies mobilize communities to take direct action in planting trees, fostering a sense of collective responsibility and stewardship for the environment. Additionally, they can influence policy decisions and inspire long-term commitments to sustainable practices, ultimately contributing to healthier ecosystems and more resilient urban and rural landscapes. They were encouraged by the teachers to share their experiences and insights with the residents of the locality on maintaining cleanliness in their homes and neighborhoods.

They also encouraged everyone along the rally route to actively participate in the tree plantation.

It was felt that the rally by enthusiastic students actually enhanced its impact and effectiveness in promoting the goals of the 'importance of tree plantation' and fostering a culture of cleanliness and environmental responsibility within the students and community..

The need was also felt that in future, when such rally will be organised, it will be much better and effective to combine the rally with a plantation drive to promote environmental awareness and sustainability.

Report on the Extension Activity (July – December, 2022)

The Constitution of India, as it has lately been said, is at stake in terms of autocratic attitudes of the government in power. This makes nation-wide controversy and issue of debate in the past few years. Department of Political Science, taking the subject into consideration, wants the people around the locality of our College to get aware of this matter as the Citizens and voters of the India. The aim of this campaign was to let the common people know the basic Constitutional rights and their duties they are meant to have, enjoy and observe as the cells of the body politic of Indian political system.

The campaign was undertaken on the Gandhi Jayanti, i.e. 2nd October, 2022, in the Ramna Etbarnagar village situated close to our College. There were twelve students of our Department who organized and volunteered the programme along with the teachers. We visited the villagers of various age categories and talked to them and exchanged opinions about the Constitutional provisions. We found although most of them across age categories were politically conscious knowing about the electoral processes but had little knowledge about the Constitutional safeguards, their rights and duties. We all tried to make them understand what the Constitution says and how could we get benefitted by knowing its principles. The young male voters were more curious about the theme rather than the older ones and females. Some of them felt shy, angry or behaved disrespectfully during the campaign. But as the first ever attempt to get into the larger society, the students of our departments learnt valuable lessons from the same, indeed.

Outcome of the Extension Activity (January – June, 2023)

This year, i.e. 2023, there is no election to be held in West Bengal. The result was obvious: there was no political battle – neither between political parties nor through the political propaganda at any level of democratic federal structure of our country – central, state or local. The Department of Political Science of Dumkal College hence had chosen such rare political idyll to organize a campaign for ‘Voting Awareness’.

The aim of this campaign was to inform the people lived nearby rural localities about the importance of voting – a power given to a citizen to be exercised wisely. And, then, why an individual of eighteen years of age has been given this power: ‘One Citizen, One Vote’. In order to attain the goal, the volunteers, ten in number, and teachers, two in number – Prof. Samiul Mondal and Prof Amir Sohail, moved to Bhatsala. They talked to the people randomly irrespective of age, gender and religious identity on 19th March, 2023. The team received, however, mixed responses. They even faced awkward situation at one point of the program from some of the people over there as they showed hostility as to the matter wrongly assuming the campaign as some kind of political advertising. But it was also an experience that surfaced why voting has been an important issues in our society and the need for political education regarding the same. .

Outcome of the Extension Activity (July-December, 2023)

One of the most important aspects of good governance in a democratic decentralized political system is the predominance of 'Rule of Law'. The stronger and deeper it is, the more secure the lives of the citizens of the same. But country like India, having lower degree of literacy rate and economic growth along with huge population, it has only been an illusion. Although, there are ways to rescue the system of laws, at list to some extent in reality, for a respectful life to live. One of such ways is to educate the common people with the A.B.C. of 'Legal Rights'. The object of the campaign organized by the Department of Political Science, Dumkal College, was to apprise of those liberties offered by a democratic government to its citizens for a better life.

All the teachers and ten volunteers from the Political Science Department, therefore, selected Etbarnagar, a place at the heart of the Dumkal municipal area, to do the same among the people over there. We talked to various types of people on the theme. We found most of them, as expected, know nothing or little about it, and afraid of knocking the door of law they were supposed to do whenever their rights were violated. There were blind spots in the mentality of the commoners as to the legal issues. So, it was very hard both to make them understand and convince about the purpose and fairness of such campaign. But what we learnt at the end of the day was that if implemented properly, the legal rights could minimize the problems people faced in their day-to-day activities.
